

The Blue Moon Cowgirls

"A little bit invitin',
a little bit excitin',
a little bit ignitin' . . .
that's my trademark,"
proclaims an old song.
And that's the *Blue
Moon Cowgirls*, four Baltimore/ Washington-area musicians with their own refreshing approach to acoustic music and harmony.

A shimmering trio of female voices backed by flexible acoustic instrumentation, the Blue Moon Cowgirls blend front-porch informality with neon-lit sophistication as they sing about home and highways, heaven and honkytonks, heartbreak and hope.

Their repertoire stretches from the 1920s Appalachia to the 21st century California, with stops along the way at several decades' worth of prairie roadhouses and bayou dance halls. The sound of country music has always been on the move, but its heart has remained in the same place, and the Blue Moon Cowgirls can take you there.
